

Many people I meet ask me - "Why no one knows about your method of treatment?". I also heard a lot, read and read in a network of different opinions "for" and "against" RANC method. Such difficulties in finding reliable information on this matter can not disappoint, so today I spent some time and gathered on this page Forum addresses and sites which were or still are discussions about RANC method.

I think that this small collection will help people make up their own opinion on the question of whether there is actually a method of treatment. I have not been involved in these discussions, because, as I think that is quite enough for what I'm talking on the pages of your site. "Parallel Lives" social networks, if it is active or not very active can participate steal all his spare time, but it is not enough even for you to communicate with people who are close to me. And the fact that, looking after the work is not even on the forum, but simply own email you can get "a bullet in the heart," in the form of a letter written by a helpless, sick man who can not help, and he hopes this is not pleased .

And believe or not believe, it's everybody who is looking for answers to their questions, so I just decided to help in the search for information, regardless of my personal opinion. Here's what I found last night:

Vera (Wikipedia)

Faith - the recognition of something real (belief), including the recognition of something true without prior factual or logical checks, only by the internal, subjective immutable beliefs (pure faith), which does not need for its justification in the evidence, although sometimes and looks for them. A special case of the phenomenon of faith is a religious belief.

"Philosophical Dictionary" gives the following information:

Vera - a state entity that is closely connected with the spiritual world of the individual , arising on the basis of specific information about the object, expressed in ideas or images, accompanied by the emotion of confidence and a number of other feelings and serves as motivation, incentive and benchmark human activity.*

Faith - this is related to speculation, in which his actions are recognized as a true and reliable without evidence.

The New Testament (Hebrews 11.1):
Now faith is the substance of things hoped for and the invisible.
