

Since the brain is able to regulate itself through the reticular formation, we can suggest that all functional disorders can be treated as well as some organic ones, emerged on their background. Such optimistic is made after observing patients whose hormone levels changed after 1-2 treatment procedures. It is known that several young women who had been treating infertility for 3-5 years soon after treatment became pregnant.

There was also a case when man's pituitary started produce prolactine less after the treatment. Before the treatment this man had increased level of prolactine. There are many positive results when treating Parkinson's disease, ischemia, disorders in brain blood circulation, asthma. Perhaps, there are no diseases when reticular formation stimulation would not have positive results. I suppose, in the future researches in this field, conducted under laboratory control, will make it possible to confirm suggestions about the fact that this treatment approach can cure many diseases.

Whereas I am as a neurologist encounter such health states and diseases as headache, backache(pain in lumbus and neck), osteochondrosis, spinal disk herniation, pain in joints and pain involved by sciatic nerve and trigeminal nerve diseases. Great practical experience is accumulated during 13 years in treating these diseases and I want to share it on this website.
